

TASK 5 REFLECTION

Being a Digital Ambassador for this project has helped me understand that cyber awareness is not just about being aware of cybercrimes but also about being able to explain them to others. During my research and writing of the case study, I realized how easily cybercrimes such as phishing or UPI scams can take place by clicking on a link or believing an unknown source. This helped me understand how cyber-crimes can take place.

Creating a prevention checklist for cyber-crimes also helped me realize a few things about myself. For instance, I realized that even though I knew many precautions to avoid cyber-crimes, I didn't always practice them. This project helped me think practically about what I could tell a student to avoid a cyber-crime. For instance, how could I advise a student to avoid a scam?

This project has helped me change my perspective from being a mere user to being a responsible citizen who can spread awareness about cyber-crimes. This project has helped me realize that cyber-crime prevention is a collective responsibility and can help prevent severe consequences.
